

THREE MORE JURORS IN THE HAINS CASE

Attorneys on Both Sides Anxious to Make Progress.

PROMISE SPEEDY CONCLUSION

Appointment of Lunacy Commission Predicted—Physician Who Has Been Attending Prisoner Says He Is Suffering from "Manic Depression"—New Bit of Evidence.

New York, April 20.—Three more jurors were seated today at the trial of Capt. Peter C. Hains in the Supreme Court, Flushing, for the murder of William E. Annis, at the Dayside Yacht Club, last August. This makes five jurors that have been selected during two days.

Juror No. 4 is William H. Denton, of Evergreen, L. I. He is sixty-three years old. He is a retired business man, and the father of seven children, the youngest of which is nineteen years old. One of his sons is a lawyer. He admitted under questioning that he had read about the Hains case, but had formed no opinions, and had no fixed prejudices.

Otto J. Nicholas, a lithographer, of Wyckoff Heights, L. I., was chosen as the fifth juror. He is a married man.

Nearly a whole day had been spent in wrangling and cross-questioning before the attorneys were able to decide on the third juror, who preceded Mr. Denton in the box. Finally Charles Appel, of Wood Haven, answered all the questions satisfactorily, and was seated. Appel is a tinsmith, and is married, as are all the other jurors.

New Bit of Evidence.

Counsel for the defense were in a cheerful frame of mind to-day over a new bit of evidence which they have found, and which they declared would positively tear to shreds any testimony that may be offered by Mrs. Claudia Libby Hains should she decide to take the stand against her husband. This evidence, it was learned, is contained in letters—ten in all—which, it is asserted, were written to Mrs. Hains by Annis while her husband was in the Philippines.

District Attorney DeWitt, when told of the letters, laughed and declared that it was nothing more than a bluff. He says he will produce Mrs. Hains should he deem it necessary.

Dr. L. S. Manson, one of the physicians who has been attending Capt. Hains since his incarceration in the Long Island City jail, informed the lawyers of both sides to-day that the defendant is suffering from "manic depression," and is likely to have an outbreak at any time. This outbreak, he declared, might possibly be of a violent form. Because of this it was agreed by the lawyers that the name Annis be used only when it is absolutely necessary.

May Call Children.

Mr. McIntyre said to-day that, if permitted to do so, he may call the three children of Capt. Hains as witnesses for their father. The lawyer declared that through them he can corroborate the testimony of other witnesses that their father's mind was abnormal after he returned from the Philippines.

A speedy conclusion of the trial of Capt. Hains, through the appointment of a commission to inquire into the defendant's sanity, was predicted to-day by counsel for the defense.

"This case will never reach the jury," said Daniel O'Reilly, one of the attorneys for the defense, "and the appointment of a commission in lunacy to determine the prisoner's sanity is, in my opinion, inevitable."

DYING OF HUNGER IN TABRIZ.

American Missionary Killed While Leading a Sortie for Food.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—The city of Tabriz, Persia, is in dire straits. The inhabitants are unable to procure food and are starving. Some have already died of hunger and many are dying. The foreigners in the place, who number about fifty, are hardly any better off than the natives.

Some of the starving made a sortie to-day and attempted to raid the food stores of the Royalists. A sharp fight followed at Karamlik, where a young American missionary of the name of Baskerville, who was heading a section of those making the sortie, was killed.

The consulates are threatened by a mob, who seem bent on killing the consuls for the purpose of compelling foreign intervention to relieve the misery. The Russian residents are assembled in their consulate, which is especially threatened, it being known that 1,000,000 roubles belonging to the closed Russian Bank are stored there.

Tehran, April 20.—In response to a strong Russo-British pressure the Shah has consented to six-days' armistice at Tabriz, to allow food to be taken into the town.

Russia Sending Troops.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—At Great Britain's request Russia is sending sufficient troops to Tabriz to protect Russian and other foreign institutions and subjects to maintain safe communication between Tabriz and Jula.

succeeded in misleading the soldiers and inhabitants, while parliament was stained by blood.

It declares that the soldiers who participated in the revolution, besmirched the honor of the army, which had been intact for 600 years. It was with the view of removing this stain and safeguarding the constitution that the Second and Third Corps had come to the capital.

The proclamation further demands the re-instatement of the ousted military and naval officers; that their commands shall not be opposed; that the soldiers swear on the koran to implicitly obey the orders of their superiors, and not mix in politics of the future; that the punishment of the guilty shall not be interfered with, and that spies and other provokers of disorders be denounced. If the army any navy comply with these demands nothing will befall them. The proclamation ends with a demand that the garrison forward a reply.

Central and Business Cross Bats Friday.

SPIRITED RACE IS EXPECTED

Teams Are Well Fortified, with Central and Business as the Favorites. Technical, Eastern, and Western to Fight It Out for the Remaining Positions—Hard Luck for Tech.

At a meeting of the board of athletic directors held in the assembly hall at Central High School yesterday, a complete rearrangement of the high school baseball schedule was effected.

According to the new frame-up the season will start Friday at American League Park, with Central and Business as contenders.

The idea of adopting the double-header system was stricken out because of the failure of the committee in charge to complete arrangements suitable to all concerned. Beginning Friday games will be played Tuesdays and Fridays of each week up to and including May 23, when Central and Tech will cross bats in the contest, usually the big card of the season.

With the opening of the season but two days away the coaches at the various high schools are putting the finishing touches on their teams in preparation for the race which promises to develop into one of the most interesting in the history of the sport in the high school athletics. The main object of the team representing Central Eastern, Western, and Business is to prevent Tech from winning the Protection trophy.

Hard Luck for Tech.

From the present outlook the schools will accomplish their purpose, as the showing of the Manual Trainers to date would hardly warrant a concession on the part of the writer of a place among the "probabilities" for the Rhode Island avenue team.

Their only hope lies in "Dolly" Gray, the star slaban. From the present outlook, though, he will be unable to pitch, because the team is minus the services of a competent man to do the receiving stunt. The only player who was able to turn the trick—a youngster named Morris—is now out of the running on account of a severe fracture of his throwing arm, sustained in a recent practice game.

Early season dopsters grant the honors to Central and Business with Eastern, Tech, and Western left to fight it out for the other positions in the race. Of the favorites, Central has a shade the better over Business. The suspension of Rawlings, the Stenographer's star batsman, will probably result in losing the services of an unusually promising youngster.

On the other hand, Central is well fortified in the box with two and probably three pitchers who have proved themselves among the best in the preparatory schools. As to the remaining positions, the teams are about evenly matched, granting Central and advantage behind the bat and Business in short field.

Western a Dark Horse.

Of the remaining teams, Eastern, Technical and Western, the first two mentioned appear the stronger. Western has hardly shown the form to rank with the other schools, but it would hardly be safe to make a prediction as to their probable position at the end of the season.

Technical and Eastern have played a number of practice games with teams of other schools, and although having fared well each time, they are doped out as "weak in spots." Both teams are well fortified with pitchers, but have shown little class in fielding. Eastern has an excellent catcher, and a strong infield, but lacks a strong outfield.

Technical has a strong infield, but lacks a strong outfield. Eastern has a strong infield, but lacks a strong outfield. Technical has a strong infield, but lacks a strong outfield.
